Description of your organisation's activities. Please list your aims and objectives.

Cambridgeshire Search and Rescue (CamSAR) is the Lowland Rescue unit, established in 2006, covering our county, while often also assisting sister teams in the wider region.

We are a specialist team, called upon by Police in the search for vulnerable missing people: a child, an elderly person suffering from dementia or even someone who is considering taking their own life. In each case an emergency response is vital.

On average we respond to around 50 calls annually for assistance in finding vulnerable missing persons and with an increasing number of people living in their own home for longer we do not envisage this number to reduce.

We support all of the emergency services in what ever way we can. We do not charge for our service and we do not pick and choose who or how we help. For missing people we must work completely under the directive of Cambridgeshire Constabulary and offer our vital professional service any time of the day or night.

The missing person themselves is always the person we aim to help but sometimes we may be too late. In this instance our work is even more important to help bring closure to families and also to help protect the public from coming across the unexpected which in some instances can be quite horrific, especially if this was discovered by children.
